Strategic planning is guided by ESCR-Net’s core principles: ensuring the centrality of social movements, regional and gender balance in leadership and intersectional analysis in advancing human rights through member-led actions. Planning, implementation and evaluation are ongoing processes, with different projects at distinct places on this continuum. ESCR-Net is striving to ensure that all working groups have in-person planning meetings at least every two years, with two-year action plans revisited on an annual basis in the final quarter of every year, as a moment for members to evaluate, analyze conditions, review specific objectives, and reprioritize collective actions.
